

GRAND RAPIDS TRIBUNE

GRAND RAPIDS, WIS.
WAY TO SUCCESS.

The man who undertakes to accomplish too many things at the same time generally pays a high toll in the end. He may succeed for a while, but he does so at fearful risks and with cut proper reckoning the cost to himself. He is the exception, though rather than the rule and often "makes good" at the expense of his physical and mental well being. Says the Grand Rapids News and Courier, "Glance among men are rather even in this day of surprising developments and record achievements, and as a rule the man who follows one line of work with close attention and conscientious regard will pay for himself greater success and more enduring results than he who dabbles in any undertaking that may come his way. It is not an easy thing to shut ourselves away from tempting influences and conditions that may appeal to us, but having once fixed ourselves to do a certain work, and having expended time and energy in its accomplishment, it is only natural to suppose that we can obtain more certain results by devoting it to the best of our ability. Soundness of the way is hard; long hours of application are necessary, but often when we least expect it the clouds begin to lift and we see the realization of the promises for which we have labored."

What clever practicalness was that of the boys of West Lafayette college, Ohio, who put all in the milk for the girls' dormitory, causing twenty of the cows to become ill as to require the attendance of physicians? They were nearly as daring as the young men of the Pacific coast institution of learning who robbed the girls' dormitories and frightened some of the occupants into hysterics by pulling chains out of bed. The twentieth century young man does many things that would hardly have occurred in any earlier age. Is it because of the disappearance of the birch as an aid to education?

An automobile in New York picked up a stone in its wheel and flung it into a window, almost striking some persons. The automobile is perhaps the most striking instance of the innate depravity of inanimate things. It has been known to try to climb a tree, to attempt to turn somersaults in the open, to say nothing of running down the general public. But now it has taken to throwing stones at people, something imperative toward curbing its impetuosity will have to be done.

We are accused of being the most wildly speculative nation in the world. But in the year London has run wild over the rubber craze, then went through a boom in oil shares, and has finally turned to a bull gamble in British railroads. The United States has, on the other hand, practically stopped speculation, perhaps for the sufficient reason that the lands had no more fleece to shear.

The golden anklet with bangles has appeared in Chicago. This is probably a decoration intended to go with the harem skirt and shows again the inconsistency of the feminine mind. While the inhabitants of the eastern harem are taking to Paris styles western women are looking for their fashions to the Orient.

People who live in New York complain that the place is becoming too noisy at night. The people who make the noise will find it difficult to understand why men and women who long for peace and quiet insist on living in New York.

Members of a club in Atlanta say they will go to jail before they will tell what they know of women drinking in the club. The poet was mistaken. The world's male chivalry is not perished out. It has joined the Atlanta club.

It may be that a woman must put her soul into her dress in order to look well, but, at the same time, a good deal of importance rests on the sort of a physique she is able to put into it.

Par be it from us to arouse slumbering trouble, but what has become of the tight trousers and padlock coats with which we were threatened a few months ago?

At Newark, N. J., a lawyer charged his fair client $500 for reading a bundle of love letters, and she is complaining. She should have hired a woman lawyer and had them read for nothing.

An English author was fined in New York the other day after he had received a wallopp on the eye for trying to dirt with a pretty damsel. We have no doubt that he will write a book entitled "Seeing America."

DIRECT VOTE WINS

RESOLUTION FOR POPULAR ELECTION OF SENATORS ADOPTED BY SENATE.

FINAL VOTE IS 64 TO 24

Bristow Amendment for Supervision By the Federal Government is Also Adopted, Vice-President Sherman Casting the Deciding Ballot.

Washington, May 14.—A vote of 64 to 24, the United States senate, after a day of sharp debate, adopted a resolution to submit to the states an amendment to the constitution for the election of senators by direct vote.

The Bristow amendment, which refers to the federal government the right to control the senatorial elections in the states, was adopted before the final vote, 44 to 44, with Vice-President Sherman casting the deciding vote.

The vote on the Bristow amendment was as follows:
Yeas—Bacon, Bradley, Brandegee, Bristow, Bryan, Burnham, Briggs, Burton, Clark, Crawford, Cullum, Cummings, Curtis, Dixon, DuPont, Gallinger, Gable, Guggenheimer, Hays, Harbo, Hendon, Lippitt, Lodge, Lorimer, McCumber, Penrose, Nelson, Nixon, Oliver, Root, Smith, Perkins, Richardson, Root, Smith, McMillan, Stinson, Stephenson, Sutherland, Townsend, Warren, Wetmore—44.

Nays—Bacon, Bradley, Brandegee, Bristow, Bryan, Burnham, Briggs, Burton, Clark, Crawford, Cullum, Cummings, Curtis, Dixon, DuPont, Gallinger, Gable, Guggenheimer, Hays, Harbo, Hendon, Lippitt, Lodge, Lorimer, McCumber, Penrose, Nelson, Nixon, Oliver, Root, Smith, Perkins, Richardson, Root, Smith, McMillan, Stinson, Stephenson, Sutherland, Townsend, Warren, Wetmore—24.

This was the supreme test. During the exciting debate over the Bristow amendment, party feeling ran high, the Democrats insisting that not to include Senator Brandegee's original proposition that the states should elect the senators would be to deprive the states of their federal authority too dangerous a step. It was openly charged that the amendment to the constitution, if the Bristow amendment was carried, as it did, will be defeated in the states.

The resolution is amended must pass the house of representatives by a two-thirds vote, and be ratified by three-fourths of the states.

The final vote on the resolution follows:
Yeas—Bacon, Bradley, Brandegee, Bristow, Bryan, Burnham, Briggs, Burton, Clark, Crawford, Cullum, Cummings, Curtis, Dixon, DuPont, Gallinger, Gable, Guggenheimer, Hays, Harbo, Hendon, Lippitt, Lodge, Lorimer, McCumber, Penrose, Nelson, Nixon, Oliver, Root, Smith, Perkins, Richardson, Root, Smith, McMillan, Stinson, Stephenson, Sutherland, Townsend, Warren, Wetmore—44.

The Democrats who voted no on the Bristow amendment do so because of the Bristow amendment.

HELD FOR SWINDLING

HEAD OF AMERICA ELECTRIC FUSE COMPANY ARRESTED.

Frank G. Jones Is Charged With Having Forged Notes Aggregating $800,000.

Muskegon, Mich.—It is believed by the creditors of Frank G. Jones, president of the American Electrical Fuse company and a director of the Huckle National bank of this city, that he has, through fraudulent operations, swindled them out of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Jones was arrested on a warrant sworn out by officers of the Old National bank of Grand Rapids, charging him with obtaining $50,000 under false pretenses.

An under sheriff took him to the Grand Rapids jail. A petition in bankruptcy was filed by George A. Hume, Thomas Hume and John G. Emery, three Muskegon creditors with claims amounting to $30,000. Reteros Wicks appointed receiver. It alleged the liabilities of the company are $750,000 and the assets $150,000.

Banks throughout the central states are believed to have been victimized in sums of $2,000 to $50,000. Jones was a Chicago lawyer before he went to Adrian to establish the Huckle National bank. He put up into trouble through some checks it sent out.

Many of the stockholders are Muskegon people, quite a number of them employees of the company. The receiver has advised all the high bank officials, keeping only a small working force. The plant will continue in operation.

PACT BATTLE ON IN SENATE

Reciprocity Bill Is Reported by Finance Committee Without Recommendation and Fight Begins.

Washington.—The Canadian reciprocity bill was returned to the senate, with several reports setting forth the diverse views of members of the finance committee.

The majority report was noncommittal—neither for nor against. Senators Williams, Stone and Kern, Democrats, submitted a statement endorsing the bill, submitted a statement endorsing the measure as "half a loaf," and therefore better than no tariff revision at all, and an amendment, declaring proposed additions to the bill intended to bring about its defeat.

Senators La Follette and McCumber presented reports in opposition to the measure.

"When I want two things I want both, but I can't get both, then I want the one I can get," Mr. Williams said. "Not only is it true that I would, as original propositions, favor most of the amendments offered, but I could easily write down several hundred others that I would like to put upon the statute books, reducing the burden of tariff taxation upon the people."

"But I see no sense in refusing to kill a battleship because I cannot at the same time kill an anaconda," Mr. Williams favors the house "farmers' free list bill," but not in favor of it as an amendment to this bill, because he thinks the defeat of the bill would be to defeat the bill.

Mr. La Follette says the bill makes the farmer the scapegoat in the interest of the railroad, the miller, the packer, the newspaper publisher.

RAIL LOOT TRIAL IS ON

Chicagoan Being Made Scapegoat to Protect the Big Four Is Charged.

Cincinnati.—Charles W. Baker, attorney for Edgar S. Cooke of Chicago, who is on trial here charged with embezzling $24,000 from the Big Four railroad, in his opening statement, declared that his client was being made a scapegoat by officials of the company to protect the road from punishment for giving rebates.

Baker said that officials of the Big Four railroad were suspected of taking millions of dollars from the treasury and paying it in violation of federal laws to favored shippers.

"If the truth were known," said Baker, "the grand jury did not take $643,000, as charged, but he took it for the purpose of the railroad."

The Big Four, he said, did not make any charges against Cook. Cook, the former treasurer of the company, he said, was a confidential man, and he had been given a free hand in the company's affairs.

He said the Big Four railroad had made any demand upon the American Surety company, which paid the auditor at the time, covered in the indictment of Cooke, had been promoted since.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

It Was Not Like This in the Olden Days if a Bump Bug Got in Sister's Hair.

TO QUIZ ROOSEVELT

EX-PRESIDENT AND J. P. MORGAN MUST TESTIFY, SAY STEEL PROBERS.

P. B. Kellogg, Government Prosecutor in Standard Oil Case, Admits He Is Counsel for Subsidiary Companies in Steel Combine.

Washington.—Ex-President Roosevelt and J. P. Morgan will be summoned to appear before the standard steel investigating committee to give testimony on how the standard was owned by the steel trust and able to control the steel market.

Chairman Stanley made this known when he declared there was so much in connection with the steel corporation that he desired cleared up that he intended bringing before the committee everyone who could throw any light on the subject.

Colonel Roosevelt will be asked about his tacit assent to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the steel corporation, and Mr. Morgan will be questioned concerning the financial transactions preceding and consummating the deal through which the Tennessee company stock was turned over to the steel corporation.

Frank B. Kellogg, special counsel of the government in the case for the dissolution of the Standard Oil, admitted to the committee that his law firm is counsel for subsidiary companies of the steel corporation. He said he had no apology to make to the American people for this connection.

Since 1907, Kellogg has been engaged by the department of justice. Before that he had been employed by the government to make arguments in suits against the railroad and the Union Pacific railroad. Attorney General Wickersham knew of his connection with the steel corporation.

Mr. Kellogg said he had never been asked by anyone connected with the government as to his views on the legality of the steel corporation under the Sherman law or the legality of the Sherman law or the methods of operation of its acts or methods of operation. He was incensed by criticism of his connection with the steel corporation.

James Caylor, former vice-president of the steel corporation, told the committee there had been an understanding during many years between the railroads and steel rail makers as to the price of rails. He had never heard of apportioning the tons of the rails among the rail makers of a territory.

He said the danger of an iron ore famine because of the vast supply not only in the United States but throughout the world.

In 1907 and 1908 he attended the famous Gary dinners, but never heard any discussion as to prices or business territory. He gravely stated the steel corporation had covered such points as abolishing Sunday labor and improving the welfare of the workmen, together with talk as to general business conditions.

LAWMAKERS' PAY REACHES $51,000

NEARLY 1,650 BILLS WERE INTRODUCED, MAKING THE COST ABOUT $31 EACH.

PENSION LAW IN EFFECT

This Creates a Teachers' Insurance and Annuity Fund—State Board of Five Members Will Take Care of It.

Madison.—The Wisconsin legislative session has cost the state in salaries thus far nearly $51,000, this figure being based on an average daily cost estimated by Secretary F. E. Dwyer of the civil service commission in connection with the meeting of the National Assembly of Civil Service Commissioners, which met here last week.

Nearly 1,650 bills have been introduced at this session, making the cost of the session about $31 per bill. Many bills, however, have received no consideration at all, which makes more consideration of bills in such cases, if the session concludes in two weeks, the cost per bill, unless a large number of new bills come in, which is extremely unlikely—the cost per bill will be slightly more than $33. If final adjournment does not come for three weeks—which is more likely—the cost per bill will be about one dollar more.

This salary cost per bill has been much lower in the last three sessions, when the employees were under civil service. In previous years, when the employees were under civil service, the cost per bill was much higher, as large as it is now ($31) and the bill cost since 1891 has ranged from $55 in 1901 to $36 in 1905. The average number of employees in the eight sessions preceding the present one was 1,650.

In comparison with 26 other states, the cost per day in Wisconsin is quite low. New York leading with $1,551, Minnesota with $1,100, and Wisconsin with $715, in spite of a limit of 100 days upon the length of sessions.

The new law creating a teachers' insurance and annuity fund was officially published and is now in effect. It provides for a state fund, it is optional with teachers to come under the law. If they come under it they are to share in its benefits and are required to contribute to the fund one per cent of their salary annually.

The former law provided for an annual salary of $12,500 for each year of service, but not to exceed $450 in any year. The fund is to be made up of contributions by teachers and other sources.

The joint legislative committee on finance reported to the senate the Kleczka bill directed to the state land commission to buy a tract of 87 lots adjoining the state fair grounds at West Allis to be used for state fair purposes.

An amendment was recommended appropriating $40,000 to pay for the land. It was recommended that the law passed two years ago, appropriating $20,000 for the purchase of some of this land, be repealed.

Six of the fourteen members of the committee dissented from the report. They were Senators Sanborn, Browne, True and Whitehead and Assemblymen Drapeau and Harper.

The measure passed by the senate of the forestry committee's bills does not mean that they will have any effect in the assembly. As to almost all appropriations, the senate is subject to the veto of the assembly.

The measure will now probably go to the supreme court for final adjudication. It involves stocks in Wisconsin railroads upon which, if the law is upheld, the tax will amount to over $300,000.

New Normal Is Opposed.
The joint committee on finance has decided to recommend an amendment to the state normal school appropriation bill, cutting out the provision authorizing the appropriation of $250,000 for a new normal school at Eau Claire.

This means that the proposed school will not be built within the next two years if the legislature heeds the recommendation. The state board of normal school regents has asked for an annual appropriation of $200,000 for five years for buildings and improvements. The committee has decided to recommend that this be cut to $150,000.

State Amends Complaint.
The state filed an amended complaint with City Attorney Daniel W. Homan in the case of the state vs. Homan and the county, covering $5,000 in fines collected in the municipal court. This is the third complaint by the state.

In the former suit the state was defeated, since then attorneys for the state alleged that the city has been using the fines for municipal purposes, using the fines not brought forward in the former complaints.

BANK GUARANTY KILLED BY SENATE

UPPER HOUSE, BY THE VOTE, REFUSES TO CONCUR IN PROPOSED VOTE.

BICHLER BILL IS PASSED

Assembly Makes Test for Tuberculosis in Cattle a Matter That Will Be Optional With Farmers—Other Capital Work.

Madison, May 14.—A vote of 18 to 12, with four members paired, the senate refused to pass the Owen bill for the guaranty of bank deposits. The vote was as follows:
Yeas—Blaine, Brossard, Brown, Donald, Gaylord, the time, Kozak, Kozak, Martin, Owen, Sanborn, Treadwell, Zaphy—18.

Nays—Albers, Bishop, Bodenstab, Burke, Hoyt, James, Louns, Perry, Shover, Thomas, Tule, Wentz, Whithead—12.

Paired Senator White for and Senator Wright against; Senator Lively for and Senator Scott against. Twenty-two votes were necessary to pass the bill.

By a close vote the Owen measure was given the right of way over the Hasting bill on the same subject. The vote was as follows:
Yeas—Blaine, Brossard, Brown, Donald, Gaylord, the time, Kozak, Kozak, Martin, Owen, Sanborn, Treadwell, Zaphy—18.

Through a switch, if the Owen bill was defeated, as was expected, even by its author, the Hasting bill carrying the Owen amendment for a referendum, would then come up for action.

The bill was discussed briefly by Senators Whithead, Owen, Hasting and Treadwell. Senator Whithead claimed there was no necessity for any such law.

Sensor Owen said the only objection to the bill was that it created an all-out hardship for the bank. If they have as good luck in the future as in the past the banks would never have to pay out a dollar from the insurance fund.

Sensor Scott asked Senator Owen if any depositor had asked for the law. Senator Owen did not know of any. Senator Hasting said the banks were inconsistent in giving security for deposits, but not to other depositors.

Sensor Whithead in conclusion said there is no more reason why banks should insure each other than there was for life insurance companies to insure each other.

The senate passed the Owen bill relating to the issue of stock and bonds of public service corporations. It also passed the Kleczka bill regulating the civil service in Milwaukee and providing for an expert class.

The Crowell bill authorizing state banks to receive postal deposits was announced in.

The senate passed the bill appropriating $1,300,000 to the state charitable, reformatory and penal institutions.

Others passed were: Creating a state board of public affairs; providing for the purchase of two stamp printing machines for the state college of agriculture; relating to the exercise of the right of eminent domain by municipalities to develop water power for lighting and water plants; providing for sanitation for the treatment of advanced cases of tuberculosis.

The Bichler bill eliminating the compulsory test of cattle for tuberculosis, was passed in the assembly, as to 6. There was long debate. The hearings developed that the farmers would not object to a law making testing optional.

The Mahon bill creating an industrial commission was ordered on to the floor. This bill proposes to do away with the state labor department.

Oh You Rastus.

—A quaint old southern negro by the name of Rastus came near losing the cause of an upheaval in the colored church when two or three plotting women such as Caroline Livingston and Mrs. Graham attempted to slander sweet little Lena Rivers in the great play by the same name. The way that Rastus sticks to "Lena" through all her troubles brings tears to the eyes of many and his apparent disgust for two arch-plotters brings roars of laughter and applause from the audience. "Lena Rivers" appears at Daly's Theatre next Sunday, June 25. Special Sunday prices 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents, one ladies free ticket with each 50 cents paid ticket.

A RUSE THAT FAILED
By LAURA IDA ROSS
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

John and Gertrude Bingham were obliged to have live with them John's aunt, a disagreeable old woman, who was constantly making them miserable. There were two reasons why they should keep her in the house. One was that she had no other home, and the other was that she possessed about $50,000 of property which John expected or at least hoped she would leave to him at her death. Besides, the old lady was constantly quarreling with the only home open to her and making her life a living hell. There were some distant relatives. There were a number of those wills outstanding, but John knew that he had the last one locked in his desk in his bedroom. Not long after this will was made the old lady became an invalid, and it became necessary to send her to a sanatorium. John now felt perfectly safe, for his aunt could not make another will that would be legal. The old lady's departure was the beginning of a new era in the lives of John and Gertrude. Not a ripple came between them, and their home was peace and comfort. True, John's income was very small, but his aunt had never paid any board, always throwing on as a reason that at her death he would be amply reimbursed. But the cost of living was constantly increasing, and at the end of the old lady's departure what they had been when the couple were first married. Mrs. Bingham's mother became ill, and Gertrude was obliged to go to her. While she was away John slept in the house, taking his meals in the kitchen. He would return a business late in the afternoon, get on as best he could till dinner time, then go out and dine alone at a cheap cafe. At last Gertrude's presence at her mother's home was no longer necessary, and she concluded to give John a surprise by returning without notifying him. Her train arrived at such an hour as would take her to her own home after business hours. She reached her home, going upstairs, she saw a figure flitting through the hall. Gertrude gave chase and cornered a woman in one of the bedrooms. She was altogether too well dressed for a common thief. Indeed, she was very comely, so the demon of suspicion came over Gertrude's breast. "So this is the way my husband passes his time while I am away, is it?" she said to the woman, the blood mounting to her cheek, while at the same time a tear stood in her eye. The woman made no reply at first. She seemed to be thinking. Presently she said: "I presume you are John Bingham's wife. If you make any ado about my being here you will ruin him and me. You will also make my husband unhappy and bring disgrace and unhappiness on my children. I beseech you let me go. John will tell you how we have been tempted." "I will let you go after John comes home and I have had an opportunity to tell you both my opinion of you." "You shall not prevent my going." "The woman started to leave the only room, but Gertrude stood in the only opening. How the matter would have resulted no one knows, for at that moment the front door was heard to open and close and some one was heard in the lower hall. In another moment John Bingham appeared in the upper hall. His wife turned upon him like a fury. The cornered woman simply stared at both the others without speaking. "I never saw this person before," said John quietly, but firmly. "Madam," he added, addressing the stranger, "what did you come into my house for? You had some puzzle me doing so, but I confess it puzzles me to guess what it is. You are too well dressed for a thief. Your pretending to come here to visit me is a subterfuge." He studied her for a few moments, daring which she stood mute, looking from him to his wife like one at bay. Whatever was her real object in entering the house, matters were going hard with her. John turned to Gertrude and said quickly: "Aunt Caroline is dead. I received a notice to that effect at the office today. She died the day before yesterday. The letter was addressed by being sent to the wrong address." Husband and wife looked at each other. Ah, idea struck them at the same moment, or perhaps it was communicated from one to the other by telepathy. "The will!" exclaimed Gertrude. "Go to my desk and see if it is there," said John. "Here is the key," she took the key from him as she passed him, went to the desk and looked for the will. "It's gone!" she cried, running back to where she had left the other two. "Madam," said John sternly to the woman, "you have heard of the death of my aunt, having an old will leaving her property to you, have stolen mine to destroy it. Give me the paper and go free. Retain it and I shall send you to a police station to be searched. This is a penitentiary offense." The woman, considered awhile, then, taking a paper from a hand bag she carried, tossed it at him. "Who are you?" he asked. "I wish to know from curiosity alone, yours or your mother's?" "Ten years ago your aunt made a will in my favor."
